ACTION OFFICER

STAT

SUMMARY: Suzanne called to say she had been contacted by [redacted] who seemed somewhat upset during their conversation. [redacted] said she had been in contact with CIA through the Congressman's office previously. Mr. Foley's office wrote to CIA in early September and Ms. [redacted] received a letter from our Information and Privacy Coordinator on 10 October. [redacted] is seeking information CIA may have on her. She has heard nothing since that time.

I explained to Suzanne that it would take some time to search throughout the Agency for any information that might be in our files. If it were "negative" then [redacted] might hear in about two months; if it were "positive," then it would go into the queue and await its turn for processing. This latter procedure could take four to six months or longer.
